Communities across Idaho recognize that outdoor recreation supports health, contributes to a high quality of life and—perhaps most importantly—attracts and sustains employers and families. Investing in outdoor infrastructure attracts employers and active workforces, ensuring those communities thrive economically and socially.

79% of Idaho residents participate in outdoor recreation each year.

Idaho residents are more likely to participate in camping and day hiking than the average American.

In Idaho outdoor recreation generates:

- $7.8 billion in consumer spending annually
- 78,000 direct jobs
- $2.3 billion in wages and salaries
- $447 million in state and local tax revenue
